

JAVA.UTIL.PROPERTYRESOURCEBUNDLE CLASS

http://www.tutorialspoint.com/java/util/java_util_propertyresourcebundle.htm

Copyright © tutorialspoint.com

Introduction

The java.util.PropertyResourceBundle class is a concrete subclass of ResourceBundle that manages resources for a locale using a set of static strings from a property file. Following are the important points about PropertyResourceBundle:

- The class can be constructed either from an InputStream or a Reader, which represents a property file.

Class declaration

Following is the declaration for java.util.PropertyResourceBundle class:

```
public class PropertyResourceBundle extends ResourceBundle
```

Field

Fields inherited from class java.util.ResourceBundle.

Class constructors

S.N.	Constructor & Description
1	PropertyResourceBundle(InputStream stream) This creates a property resource bundle from an InputStream .
2	PropertyResourceBundle(Reader reader) This creates a property resource bundle from a Reader .

Class methods

S.N.	Method & Description
1	Enumeration<String> getKeys() This method returns an Enumeration of the keys contained in this ResourceBundle and its parent bundles.
2	Object handleGetObject(String key) This method gets an object for the given key from this resource bundle.
3	protected Set<String> handleKeySet() This method returns a Set of the keys contained only in this ResourceBundle .

Methods inherited

This class inherits methods from the following classes:

- `java.util.ResourceBundle`
- `java.util.Object`